

Dear friend,

Have you ever felt called to do something more?

Maybe you've dreamed of starting a business, launching a nonprofit, writing a book, starting a podcast, changing careers, growing your influence, making a bigger impact, or becoming a different version of yourself.

The dream is there. The challenge is that somewhere between where we are and where we want to be, obstacles begin to appear.

- We tell ourselves we don't have enough time.
- We don't have enough money.
- We don't have enough confidence.
- We don't have enough experience.
- We don't know where to start.

Sometimes we wonder if we're too old, too young, too busy, or too late. And even when we know what we want, the path forward can feel overwhelming. The hardest part isn't usually the dream. The hardest part is believing it's possible.

For years, achieving a dream often required access to experts, coaches, consultants, assistants, researchers, writers, strategists, and mentors. Most people had to figure things out on their own. Today, that's changing.

For the first time in human history, each of us has access to a tool that can help us think, learn, research, organize, create, solve problems, identify opportunities, and move forward with greater clarity and confidence.

Many conversations about AI focus on productivity. How to save time. How to create content faster. How to automate tasks. How to get more done. Those are valuable outcomes. But I believe the greatest opportunity is something bigger.

Not how AI can help us do more. How AI can help us become more.

- More clear about who we are.
- More confident in what we're capable of.
- More intentional about the life we're building.
- More courageous in pursuing the dreams we've been postponing.
- More effective in serving the people we're called to help.

That's why I created this guide. This isn't a collection of clever prompts. It's not a technical manual. And it's not about learning which buttons to push. It's a framework for building a relationship with AI that grows more valuable over time.

Inside these pages, you'll learn how to move beyond using AI as a search engine and begin using it as a trusted co-pilot.

You'll learn how to help AI understand who you are, what matters most to you, what you're trying to build, and where you want to go.

You'll learn how to have deeper conversations, uncover blind spots, challenge limiting beliefs, identify opportunities, and create practical plans for moving forward.

You'll learn how to use AI not only to create content, but to gain clarity, develop ideas, strengthen your message, analyze opportunities, and make better decisions.

Most importantly, you'll learn how to use AI to help you become more of who you're meant to be.

My hope is that this guide helps you dream bigger. That it helps you quiet the voice that says you can't. That it helps you see new possibilities. And that it gives you the confidence to take the next step toward the life, business, mission, or dream that has been calling to you. Because the future won't belong to the people who know the most about AI. It will belong to the people who learn how to partner with it.

So dream bigger. Start the conversation. And let's see what's possible.

Step 1: Start the Conversation

- Tell Your Co-Pilot Who You Are
 - Give your AI a name and tell it why you chose that name.
 - Share who you are, what you love, and what gives your life meaning.
 - Share what season of life you're in and what feels hardest right now.
 - Share the roles and goals that matter most to you right now.
 - Share who you want to become and why that matters to you.
- Tell Your Co-Pilot About Your Biggest Dream
 - Share your biggest dream and why it's important to you.
 - Share what you've already tried and what's at stake if this dream doesn't come true.
 - Share what's been getting in the way.
 - Share what you've been telling yourself about why this dream hasn't happened yet
 - Share what success would look like one year from now.
- Give Your Co-Pilot Permission
 - Ask hard questions. Challenge limiting beliefs. Point out blind spots.
 - Help me think bigger without flattery.
 - Notice patterns, themes, fears, dreams, and opportunities.
 - Celebrate growth and progress.
 - Help me distinguish between real obstacles and stories I'm telling myself.
 - Notice when my actions don't align with my goals and gently hold me accountable.
 - Remind me of who I said I wanted to become.

GOAL:

Build a trusted relationship with your co-pilot.

Step 2: Go Deeper

PURPOSE

- What dream have you been postponing?
- What do you want from life?
- What do you feel God is calling you to do?

STRENGTHS

- What do people always ask you for help with?
- What comes naturally to you that seems difficult for others?

OBSTACLES

- What are you afraid of?
- What are you avoiding?
- What excuses do you keep repeating?

ENERGY

- What gives you energy?
- What drains you?

LEGACY

- What impact do you want to make?
- What legacy do you want to leave?

PATTERNS

- What patterns do you notice?
- What blind spots might I have?
- What do you think I may not fully understand about myself yet?

>> This is where your co-pilot stops collecting information and starts noticing patterns.

GOAL:

Help your co-pilot discover what you
may not see yet.

Step 3: Build The Plan

DISCOVER THE DREAM

- What dream, mission, business, project, cause, or opportunity am I uniquely positioned to pursue?
- Help me identify the opportunity that best aligns with my strengths, experiences, and purpose.
- What strengths, experiences, and passions make me uniquely qualified for this?
- Help me see assets I may be undervaluing.
- What opportunities am I overlooking?
- Help me find leverage, shortcuts, partnerships, and possibilities I haven't considered.
- If fear, money, time, and self-doubt disappeared, what dream would I pursue?
- Help me separate limitations from possibilities.

REMOVE THE OBSTACLES

- What limiting beliefs, fears, excuses, or assumptions may be preventing me from moving forward?
- Help me identify what's really holding me back.
- Where am I thinking too small?
- Help me expand my vision.
- Where am I overcomplicating things?
- Help me simplify the path forward.
- Based on everything you know about me, where am I most likely to sabotage my own progress?
- Help me identify patterns before they become problems.

BUILD THE PLAN

- What would the next 90 days look like if I were serious about making this dream a reality?
- Help me create a realistic plan.
- What are the first 10 steps?
- Help me move from uncertainty to action.
- What skills, resources, or people should I learn from?
- Help me accelerate progress by learning from others.
- What mistakes do beginners make?
- Help me avoid unnecessary setbacks and wasted time.

TAKE ACTION

- What is the smallest meaningful step I can take this week?
- Help me build momentum.
- What should I stop doing to make room for what matters most?
- Help me focus my time and energy.
- What would courage look like right now?
- Help me move forward despite uncertainty.
- What would progress look like right now?
- Help me focus on movement, not perfection.

>> Say, "I give you permission to challenge assumptions, limiting beliefs, excuses, and patterns that may be preventing me from becoming who I am meant to become."

GOAL:
Turn clarity into action.

 - Communicate value more clearly.
- Rewrite My Calls to Action
 - Increase action and engagement.
- Rewrite My Dream
 - Turn a vague idea into a clear vision.

GOAL:

Communicate your value, vision,
and message more clearly.

Questions I Get Asked Most Often

Should I use the free or paid version of ChatGPT?

If you're just getting started, the free version is a great way to explore what AI can do. If you find yourself using ChatGPT several times a week for work or life, I recommend upgrading to the paid version. It offers more advanced capabilities, faster responses, better image generation, Projects for organizing different areas of your life, and access to the latest features. Think of it this way: if ChatGPT saves you just one or two hours each month, it has likely paid for itself.

Is my information private?

For everyday brainstorming, writing, planning, learning, organizing, and problem-solving, ChatGPT is a fantastic tool. That said, use good judgment. Avoid sharing passwords, Social Security numbers, bank account information, confidential business information, or anything you wouldn't want to share with a trusted colleague. When in doubt, remove or anonymize sensitive details before uploading documents or asking questions.

How do you use ChatGPT in your everyday life?

Here are just a few ways I use my AI co-pilot every day:

- Analyze my blood work and prepare questions for my doctor
- Track my nutrition and protein intake
- Help my son create plans for school and his future
- Brainstorm ideas and solve complex problems
- Create presentations, handouts, and marketing materials
- Write social media posts, blogs, and website copy
- Analyze spreadsheets, reports, and research
- Organize information into clear action plans
- Improve photos and graphics so they match my brand
- Review important decisions and help me think through options

>> The more I use ChatGPT, the more valuable it becomes because it continues learning about my goals, preferences, and the way I like to think.

What's the best way to get started?

Don't worry about writing the perfect prompt. Just start a conversation. Treat ChatGPT like a trusted co-pilot. Ask questions. Share your goals. Upload documents. Brainstorm ideas. Ask it to explain things, challenge your thinking, organize your ideas, or help you create a plan. The best way to learn is simply to begin.

WHAT IF YOU DIDN'T HAVE TO FIGURE IT ALL OUT ALONE?

You've spent these pages reflecting on your dreams, your strengths, your fears, your opportunities, and the future you're trying to create. You now have a co-pilot.

But even the best co-pilot needs a guide.

If you'd like help gaining clarity, building a roadmap, strengthening your message, growing your business, launching a project, refining your brand, or turning an idea into action, I'd be honored to help.

Together, we'll uncover opportunities, eliminate distractions, identify what matters most, and create a practical plan for moving forward. Because this isn't really about AI. It's about becoming more of who you're meant to be. Here are ways I can help:

- Strategic Clarity around your goals, message, business, brand, or next chapter.
- Personal Branding to become more visible, trusted, and chosen.
- Marketing Strategy to attract the right people and grow with confidence.
- AI Coaching & Workshops to use AI as a trusted co-pilot for life, leadership, and business.
- Speaking & Training designed to help people think bigger, communicate better, and take action.

Be Seen. Be Trusted. Be Chosen.
